WHO IS AT RISK?

Adults at risk of harm are people aged 18 or over who, for one reason or another, are unable to protect themselves from harm or exploitation. This can sometimes happen when people rely on others to help meet support or care needs, or if people don't have the right support in place.

Financial abuse can happen to people anywhere and at any time, and affects people from all types of backgrounds. It can happen in a person's home, care home, day centre, hospital or in a public place.

WHAT ARE THE SIGNS OF FINANCIAL ABUSE?

- Personal items or money going missing
- Unable to pay for normal household shopping or bills
- Living conditions not in keeping with a person's income
- Benefits or bank books being 'looked after', and it isn't clear why
- Unexplained withdrawals from bank or building society accounts
- Unusual interest from a family member, friend, carer or salesperson
- Changes to the deeds of a house
- Mis-selling from cold callers or door to door traders
